AMARYLIS 9

☰ Amarylis – this extensive collection is distinguished by glazing with a wide range of decorative muntins. It harmoniously combines two seemingly opposing tendencies. On the one hand, the austerity of industrial style, on the other, elegance drawing on the heritage of Art Déco, New York style, modern classic or hamptons style. The excellent effect is complemented by a wide range of finishes, especially single-colour decors with the durable and practical AntiFinger coating.

☰ Miskant – doors inspired by the key trends in global design. It is distinguished by large glazing with decorative black separations. In this way, practical functionality is combined with decorative qualities, and the illuminated and optically enlarged interior receives a touch of the trendy loft style. Importantly, references to the industrial style can be emphasised by the black finish of the door frame. This is, in turn broken by the warmth of one of the wood decors, available here in a very extensive range, applied to the leaf.

☰ Frezja doors are part of a collection that was created to combine modern design with elegance and... a touch of homely cosiness. The base of the design is a wide, pronounced frame. The panel inside can be solid or glazed, either entirely or only in a narrow strip near the handle. The noble, timeless simplicity of the model is combined with a wide range of finishes. Smooth decors are on offer, as well as those with the durable and modern AntiFinger protective coating and the much appreciated wood veneers.

☰ Anubis is the ideal choice for those who want to combine tradition with modernity. The models in this collection will make it possible to harmoniously complement the joinery in a renovated historic interior, but with a distinction between historic and new elements. In contrast, they will introduce a reference to the past in a modern building. These doors also encourage all kinds of games with convention, in eclectic interiors and to create an atmosphere of modern elegance in a modern classic, Hollywood revival, New York or hamptons style flat.

☰ We created the Nemesia door with retro style lovers in mind. They will look great in an old townhouse or historic villa, and evoke the atmosphere of years gone by in a new apartment building. All models are embellished with stylish panels, filled with elegant chamfered coffers or matching glazing, and depending on the veneer, it takes on different looks. Some will work perfectly in an English or New York style setting. Others – in a French or modern classic style design. There are also those that will allow us to recreate the woodwork as we know it from old Polish houses.

Epimedium doors express the style of our era. The rhythm of the vertical slats echoes the lamellas, flounces or pleats that are so fashionable nowadays. But there's more. Some, symmetrical, approach the design classics. Others, asymmetrical, direct attention towards the future of design. This ensures that the chosen model from the collection will successfully resist the passage of time. The individual models in the collection are enriched with narrow glazing in several variants to choose from. The final touch will give the door a finish. In addition to a wide range of popular wood decors, bestselling single-colour variants are available.

Inlays are a unique addition that emphasise the character and quality of the door. In a well-chosen colour, they harmonise with the interior, adding a modern touch. Inlays not only decorate but also personalise the door in a sophisticated way.

This design not only guarantees robustness and durability, but also creates an amazing visual effect. The harmonised combination at a perfect 90-degree angle not only emphasises the precision of the workmanship, but also adds a unique character to the door.

The reversible door frame is not only functional, it is the future of design, allowing the direction of door opening to be easily adjusted. This solution provides unparalleled design flexibility.

A combination of a traditional handle and a functional lock. Thanks to an ingenious mechanism, a single push of a button on the handle of the door is all it takes to lock the door "like with a key".

Hinges and locks in a matching finish are a harmonious combination of functionality and outstanding visual appeal, making the door not only a practical element but also an expression of outstanding design.
